

FAIR HOUSING TRAINING COSTS

Private Fair Housing Training

The Fair Housing Center will provide instruction about the Fair Housing Act, including corresponding state and local fair housing laws, and current trends/cases. Resource materials will be provided to the participants. The training fee includes up to 3 hours of training and the training materials for ten participants.

$500 for up to 10 persons
and $10 per additional person

$100/hour for additional hours of instruction

The Fair Housing Center will not be responsible for any other costs, including but not limited to promotion, training facility, audio/visual, accreditation, certificates of attendance, and/or maintaining records of the training.

Fair Housing Training for Clock Hours

The Fair Housing Center of Washington is an approved Real Estate School with the State of Washington Department of Licensing-Real Estate Services. The Fair Housing Center is currently offering a course for real estate clock hours titled “ABCs of Fair Housing for Real Estate and Property Management Professionals.” This 3.0 clock hour course will cover the basics of fair housing law, including the history of the law, protected classes, prohibited activities, liabilities, and remedies. Although the course covers basic fair housing concepts, the course will be appropriate for both beginning and seasoned professionals with expanded discussion of disability provisions, advertising, and current trends and cases.

The training fee includes instruction, student materials, certificates of completion, and retention of records per Washington Administrative Code.

$700 for up to 10 persons
and $20 for each additional person

If the contracting person/organization wants the Fair Housing Center to handle the registration for a training, then the training fee increases to $750 for up to ten persons and $25 for each additional person. Contracting person/organization would be responsible for costs associated with a training facility and any refreshments. The Fair Housing Center would be responsible for the cost of audio/visual equipment needed for the training.
